

Appl. No. 09/998,256
Amdt. Dated August 2, 2004
Reply to Office action of April 2, 2004

ABSTRACT

A device and method for checking authorization of users, for example, of a public transportation system, in which individual authorization data, containing user-specific data, are stored in personal chip cards and contactlessly transmitted to a portable identification device and visually reproduced by a Virtual Retinal Display.